Deadly Battle Raging on Slopes of Old Baldy

3 AIRCRAFT PARTICIPATE IN TODAY'S ATOMIC TEST

AS VEGAS IS ILLUMINATED BY EXPLOSION

Las Vegas, Nev. (AP)—A giant atomic explosion was ched off on the Nevada desert this morning with 53 aircraft-including 12 intercontinental B36 bombers—flying various missions overhead. The Atomic Energy Commission's terse announcement at the presence of the test said only that this was the first time such a large number of aircraft had participated in a test.

The AEC said today's blast was fired from a 300-foot tower on the Yucca Flat proving ground 75 miles from here. There was no hint as to what the missions of the planes might be or where they are based.

Today's shot appeared much fiercer here than the one that ended the 1953 spring series last week. And its coral tinted cloud, which divided as it rose, seemed to ascend much faster.

The AEC did not disclose the type of device being tested, but the sound of the explosion, which takes about seven minutes to reach this resort-gambling center, was not so loud as last week's. It was apparently due to atmospheric conditions, which govern how loud and strong a shock wave will be at a given point.

Brig. Gen. William C. Bullock, director of an Army maneuver in which 1,300 troops were stationed in foxholes 4,000 yards from the blast, reported there were casualties.

The AEC said animals, including pigs and rabbits, were exposed to the blast for a study of biological effects.

The Army also stationed sheep varying distances from ground zero and announced the troops will take a look at the animals, when it is safe to enter the area, so soldiers can see what happens to living things not fully protected.

Duke of Windsor Rushes To Bedside of Queen Mary Who Is Reported To Be Critical

London (AP)—Britain's proud old Queen Mary was near death tonight, with her heart weakening. Queen Elizabeth II rushed to the bedside of her grandmother.

She was accompanied by her husband, the Duke of Edinburgh, and by her sister, Princess Margaret.

Earlier today the Duke of Windsor, Queen Mother Elizabeth, the Duchess of Kent and the Archbishop of Canterbury had gone to Marlborough House to see the 85-year-old Queen grandmother.

Queen Mary—widow of a king, mother of two kings and grandmother of Elizabeth II—has been ill a month.

The British radio interrupted its programs, as it rarely does, to broadcast the bulletin.

Court officials reported the grave news of Queen Elizabeth. Crowds began to gather outside Marlborough House, the residence of Queen Mary near Buckingham Palace.

Witness Says Mrs. Smutko Suggested A Deal With Police

Beaver (AP)—A Beaver County deputy coroner testified Mrs. Katherine Smutko tried three times to make a deal with police in the slaying of 15-year-old Margaret Bankowski.

Mrs. Margaret Sanders said the 41-year-old Harmony Township housewife, on trial for murder, wanted to know last Jan. 9 "if she would confess to the killing would they put her away on the chair and tell her husband and son she had just disappeared."

The following day Mrs. Sanders said Mrs. Smutko told her: "Somebody has to pay for that killing. If I'd make a deal with that guy over in Beaver, State Police Sgt. John Taylor, would they put me in the electric chair without having any trial and make it look as if I had gone on a train and run away?"

Later that same day, the deputy coroner testified, Mrs. Smutko "wondered if she would make a deal and confess would they let her disappear."

Mrs. Sanders told the jury Mrs. Smutko said she "pressed the button on the electric chair for herself" in telling a state police detective about seeing a woman who looked like Mrs. Sophia Bankowski, mother of the slain girl, the night of the murder—Jan. 24, 1949.

U. S. PROTEST ON SHOOTING IS REJECTED

Moscow (AP)—Russia has rejected a U. S. protest against a shooting escape involving an American plane in the Far East.

A Kremlin note said the American craft made two "premeditated" violations of Siberian territory and fired first.

The Soviet rejection printed in Russian newspapers today, contended that the U. S. government take steps to prevent future violations of Soviet borders by American planes.

A Moscow radio broadcast said the reply was delivered Saturday to the U. S. Embassy in the Soviet capital.

In Washington, State Department press officer Michael McDermott said the Russian note had been received. He had no comment except to say the Soviet version was "contrary" to the facts as stated in the American protest.

There was no immediate comment from the U. S. Air Force.

The American protest had declared the March 15 incident—involving an Alaskan-based B50 bomber which the Air Force reported on weather reconnaissance—occurred 25 miles off the coast of Siberia's Kamchatka Peninsula. It said a Soviet MIG15 shot at the bomber, which then returned the fire. The U. S. Air Force said neither plane was damaged.

The Russian reply said it had been "established" that the bomber made two flights over Soviet territory March 15—the first at Cape Krestovoi, in Southern Kamchatka, and the second near the village of Zhupanovo, northeast of the Soviet base of Petropavlovsk.

Would Tighten Laws On Souped-Up Vehicles

Harrisburg (AP)—Special license fees and operator examinations would be required of persons driving "hot rods" or other "souped-up" motor vehicles under a new House bill.

Reps. Paige Warner (R-Clarion) and Thomas P. Geer (R-Allegheny) introduced a measure to tighten the state's regulation of the high-powered cars.

Under the bill owners of the cars would be required to pay double the usual $10 registration fee to operate the cars on public roads or even private race tracks. A fine of $500 would be imposed for violating the provisions.

COMMITTEE TO EXAMINE BOHLEN FILES

Washington (AP)—The Senate Foreign Relations Committee decided today to have two senators examine FBI files on Charles E. (Chip) Bohlen, nominated for ambassador to Moscow. The task was assigned to Sens. Taft (R-O.) and Sparkman (D-Ala.).

Taft, the Senate Republican leader, and Sparkman, the 1952 Democratic vice presidential nominee, both are supporting Bohlen's appointment.

During hearings on Bohlen, Secretary of State Dulles gave the committee his evaluation of the material in the FBI files. He said there was nothing to raise doubt as to Bohlen from the standpoint of loyalty or security.

But some critics of the appointment have been insisting that the senators themselves should look over the material.

Taft suggested yesterday during a torrid Senate debate on Bohlen that it might be well to have such an examination although Taft said the personally was perfectly willing to accept Dulles' appraisal of it.

The Senate may reach a vote late tomorrow.

And Sen. McCarthy (R-Wis.), a leader of the opposition, conceded that when the vote comes there may be only four or five votes against Bohlen, a career foreign service officer.

Veteran Police Officer Dies of Heart Attack

Wallace Outrid, 67, for almost a quarter of a century a member of Warren Borough police force, was found dead in his home, 615 Water St., shortly before noon today.

Mr. Outrid, who was acting desk sergeant on night duty at Police headquarters, was off duty Saturday night because of a cold, but was in good health Sunday and Monday, working last night as usual, and news of his death came as a severe shock to his many friends and to fellow officers. Last to see him alive was his daughter, Ardeth Anne, 11, who talked to her father about 7:30 a. m. today. It was she who found his body when she came home from school at noon.

Mrs. Outrid, a supervisor at the Warren State Hospital, was at lunch when she was advised of the passing of her husband.

Mr. Outrid was born in Scandia, Minn., May 24, 1885, and Chief Mike Evan said today that he was one of the best known police officers in northwestern Pennsylvania and western New York. Chief Evan said Mr. Outrid had the best practical police knowledge of any officer in this section. He was a trustee of Bucktail Lodge 96, Fraternal Order of Police. His early police experience was gained in Jamestown and he joined the local force in May of 1929.

Mr. Outrid married Florence Fox of Warren, April 11, 1936, and besides his wife is survived by two daughters, Barbara, 16, and Ardeth Anne, 11. He has a sister living in Jamestown.

Mr. Outrid served his country in

WALLY OUTRID
World War I and was a member of Dinsmoor-Schwartz Post, Veterans of Foreign Wars. He also belonged to the American Legion. Removal was made to the Lutz-VerMilyea Funeral Home. Funeral arrangements will be announced tomorrow.

7TH DIVISION THROWS BACK HEAVY ATTACK

Seoul (AP)—Americans and Chinese locked in deadly battle tonight on the red-mud slopes of Old Baldy Hill after the biggest Red attack in five months was broken by U. S. and Colombian troops.

The Chinese smashed in waves last night against Old Baldy, Pork Chop and T-Bone Hills on the Western Korean front along the Imjin Valley, invasion route to Seoul.

U. S. Seventh Division soldiers cut out the heart of the 3,500-man attack by dawn today, kicking the Chinese back from Pork Chop and T-Bone.

But the Chinese clung doggedly to part of Old Baldy as the fight there stretched into 24 hours of weary battle.

Both sides jammed in reinforcements and U. S. tanks pushed up to blast the Reds at close range.

The infantrymen fought on a coating of mud from an afternoon drizzle.

One American tank with a tread blown off was reported marooned on the crest with its crew inside. It has been in radio contact with the rear.

The Chinese apparently swept their first attack this morning and over the crest of Old Baldy in the U. S. troops have been trying to knock them off since then.

Part of the Colombian Battalion with the 7th Division took the first blow on Old Baldy. Later U. S. infantrymen came up to help.

The Chinese opened the battle along a six-mile strip last night with diversionary attacks on the Colombians just after dark. Three Red charges were beaten back.

In the darkness, the Allied troops met the Reds head to head. They fought on the torn top of Pork Chop for three hours in smoke and roar of machine guns and burp guns and exploding artillery. At dawn the Reds fled.

But on Old Baldy the battle still raged for the top.

American tanks opened up on the Reds and the Chinese laid a smoke screen to bring up reinforcements. Allied big guns poured a thunderous barrage into the haze.

Not since the battle for White Horse Mountain last October have the Reds hurled such reckless large-scale attacks.

The air war was quiet. Low clouds held many Allied warplanes on the ground.

Measures to Modify State's Libel Laws

Harrisburg (AP)—Newspapers and print statements from public officials concerning their duties without fear of libel suits under new House bill.

The measure, sponsored by the Pennsylvania Newspaper Publishers Association, is designed to field newspapers and their reporters from libel suits resulting from the unknowing publication of libel and defamatory statements on public officials.

Theodore A. Serrill, PNPA general manager, said the present law giving privilege of such statements is not clear. He said the bill, and three others introduced yesterday, were the result of a 30-month study by the PNPA legislative committee.

Kaiser-Frazer and Willys-Overland Are Reported in Merger

New York (AP)—Kaiser-Frazer Corp. plans to buy Willys-Overland Motors, Inc., for an estimated $62,800,000. The deal will make Kaiser-Frazer the world's fourth largest auto company, with assets of more than $200,000,000.

The purchase, announced here yesterday by Kaiser-Frazer, is expected to be completed next month. It is subject to approval by Willys-Overland common stockholders, who will meet April 24.

Kaiser-Frazer said it was financing the purchase with 72 millions in private capital from various sources. The estimated purchase price includes the assumption by Kaiser-Frazer of certain liabilities.

Edgar F. Kaiser, president of Kaiser-Frazer and son of Henry J. Kaiser, said the sale will give Kaiser-Frazer production facilities to boost it among the world's biggest automobile companies after the merger.

Selection of U. N. Secretary Delayed

United Nations, N. Y. (AP)—The revival of bitter blasting between the Soviet bloc and the United States and continued failure of East and West to agree in private big power talks cast a pall today over hopes at the United Nations that a new secretary general can be chosen at this time.

The 11-nation Security Council was to hold its fourth meeting late today to discuss a successor to Trygve Lie, who has said he will stay on the job until a new man is agreed upon.

The Council's five permanent members—the U. S., Britain, France, Russia and Nationalist China—after another brief closed-door consultation yesterday, announced only that they had exchanged views and still couldn't agree.

A negative vote from any one of the five vetoes a candidate.

There was wide speculation that if today's Council meeting did not produce at least a hint of agreement, the delegates may decide to drop the matter until the next assembly session in the fall.

Bill Providing For Session Every Year Passes the Senate

Harrisburg (AP)—A move to call the Legislature into session every year sailed through the Senate last night without a word of debate.

The vote was 38-3.

Voting against the bill were Sens. Hugh J. McMenamin (D-Lackawanna), Charles R. Mallory (R-Blair) and Donald P. McPherson (R-Adams).

In the form of a constitutional amendment, the legislation requires only House passage before the question is placed on the November ballot for voter approval.

The idea of annual sessions of the Legislature stemmed from the year-long tax and budget dispute in the 1951 Legislature. Proponents argued the Assembly could adopt a more realistic budget by looking ahead for only one year instead of two years.

The Pennsylvania State Chamber of Commerce opposed the plan on the grounds that annual sessions could "unfortunately duplicate the confusion" of biennial sessions.

The annual session amendment provides that the General Assembly shall convene each year on the first Monday of January, except in years when a new governor is inaugurated. In that year the Assembly would convene on the first Monday of March, thus giving the new governor two months to prepare the commonwealth's budget.

Court to Rule On A Contested Local Option Referendum

Judge Allison D. Wade will be called upon to rule on a contested local option referendum, scheduled to be held in Eldred township on primary election day, May 19.

Residents of the township, which is presently dry, filed a petition at the county commissioners' office on Thursday, March 19, asking that the referendum be placed on the ballot.

Yesterday at five p. m., David L. Ostrander, a township resident, filed a paper with Prothonotary Ralph E. Sires asking that the referendum be not allowed. Ostrander alleges that at least 15 signers of the petition are not bona fide names from the registered list of voters in the township; that the petition for the referendum was not filed at least 64 days before the election; that the names on the petition are not numbered; and that the pages of the petition are not numbered.

Commissioners said this morning that it is their understanding that while candidates must file petitions at least 64 days before the election date, a petition for a wet-dry referendum is legal if filed within 60 days before the time. The petition from the township was within the 60-day limit.

Ostrander is represented by Attorney E. H. Beshlin. The matter will be brought before Judge Wade for a ruling in the near future.

Action on Proposed Tax Plan Is Blocked Until Governor's Committee Submits a Report

Harrisburg (AP)—The Senate Rules Committee today approved a dozen Chesterman economy bills, clearing the way for action on the issue by the Senate itself.

The measures approved represented some of the Chesterman committee proposals, designed to save the commonwealth 100 million dollars in state operations by 1960.

The legislation was placed in position for a vote in the Senate next week. However, extended debate is expected to hold up the balloting for two weeks or more.

The tax study committee, named by Fine last year to make a complete survey of the commonwealth's financial dilemma, is expected to make no specific recommendations on taxes.

Instead, it will likely offer the lawmakers the choice of one or more of a series of alternative tax programs.

The Fine administration, anticipating early publication of the tax study report, ended two months of inaction on taxes by sending to the House last night the plan to renew 211 millions in existing taxes.

No new imports or increased rates were part of the package. That will come later when the (Turn to Page Seven)

Czechoslovak Plane With 29 on Board Lands at Frankfurt

Frankfurt, Germany (AP)—A Czechoslovak "freedom airliner" with 29 persons aboard escaped through the Iron Curtain last night and took refuge at the U. S. airbase here.

An official American statement said the flight captain and "some of the passengers" planned the escape. They requested political asylum immediately upon landing.

U. S. officials indicated that genuine refugees would be allowed to stay in West Germany but that any aboard the plane who wanted to return to Czechoslovakia would be sent back.

The American-designed C47 carried four crewmen and 25 passengers. It was flying from Prague to Brno, inside Czechoslovakia, when the chief pilot turned toward Germany.

American radar sighted the airliner near the frontier. It kept on into Germany for nearly 200 miles. American radio instructions guided the plane.

Westmoreland County Has Anti-Vice Crusade

Harrisburg (AP)—A police investigation of Westmoreland County's anti-gambling "Operation Crusade" is in the hands of the county district attorney today.

"The investigation was made by the state police and the information obtained was sent to the district attorney, who will confer with the local superintendent of police on the matter," Atty.-Gen. Robert E. Woodside said yesterday.

He said state police investigated the group of clergymen at the request of the district attorney.

Sen. John H. Deat (D-Westmoreland) accused the group of interfering in political campaigns.

"A few minor things did turn up in the way of violations," said Woodside. He refused to discuss the "minor things."

Truman Shows Beverly Hills Society How to Enjoy Banquet

Wilmington, Calif. (AP)—From the caviar to the petit fours, everyone watched what Harry S. Truman was doing.

But the members of the Beverly Hills Wine and Food Society did not emulate the former President. He ate heartily. They didn't do justice to all the viands served at the $30-a-plate dinner.

Long before the wine and food boys got to the main course roast of prime beef, Nipponaise, they were full. The guest of honor wasn't.

The occasion last night was the society's spring banquet. It was held in the dining room of the SS President Cleveland, aboard which Truman and his family sail for a Honolulu vacation today.

The reason Truman was still going strong after his hosts had faded was this: He didn't stuff himself at the reception, where such delicacies as blue point oysters, cherrystone clams, le foie gras de Strasbourg aux truffes and caviar and shrimp were featured. He had an oyster or two and held on to the same drink all during the reception.

So when dinner was called, he was prepared to eat.

Pravda Pessimistic Over European Army

Moscow (AP)—Pravda forecast a gloomy future for the projected European army today, predicting the plan for a six-nation defense force including German troops would meet with ever-increasing difficulties.

Commenting on the recent ratification of the army agreement and the Allied-West German peace contract by the lower house of the German parliament, the Communist party organ said this by no means solved problems encountered by proponents of the plan.

Council Committee Named to Look Into All Phases of Sewage Disposal Problem

Warren Borough Council gave unanimous and enthusiastic approval, Monday night, to President William E. Rice's suggestion that a committee be appointed to look into all phases of the sewage disposal problem and bring Council up to date on improvements which have been made since plans for a local plant were filed in Harrisburg eight or nine years ago.

Councilman Robert Y. Kopf was named chairman of this important committee consisting of Councilmen George Geracimos, Nick Merenick, William Pasquerette and Glen J. Patchen.

"While a great deal of work has been done over a period of years, the completed plans might have to be revised," President Rice told Council at a special meeting called for the purpose of discussing the problem. He pointed out that while immediate construction is out of the question, Council should be well informed on the matter when it is contemplated, particularly in regard to what has been done and what steps must be taken. He suggested that the committee look into the cost of completing the job and make recommendations as to how it shall be financed. He said the plans now on file in Harrisburg should be examined with a view to ascertaining what improvements have been made in sewage disposal during the intervening years in order that Warren may keep pace with the times. A location for the plant must be decided upon.

A greater recreation return from the Allegheny river as a clean stream was emphasized by Mr. Rice.

The meeting was of short duration and the regular April session will be at 7:30 p. m. Monday, April 13.

Tomorrow mornings school broadcast at 9.15 will have a special pedestrian safety program for in-school listening arranged by Paul Mutzbaugh from the East Street building. Members of the school patrol will have a discussion with Officer Bernard Winegardner of the Warren Borough Police Department.

Mrs. Raymond Lowe, program chairman, turned the meeting over to Henry Wyman, who, in turn, presented Eugene Cease, senior psychologist of Warren State Hospital. He gave a very fine talk on "Child Behavior", explaining circumstances that make them react as they do, and stressing impor-

Membership of Legion Post Reaches 562; Plans Are Made for Annual Easter Egg Hunt

Regular meeting of the American Legion which was followed by a meeting of the Legion Home Corporation presented members Chief Cornplanter Post with active evening last night at Legion Home.

Commander Jack Barr presided at the regular Legion meeting. Past commander Willis Lundberg, president of the Home Corporation, took over for that meeting.

Legionnaires heard reports of Post's sound financial condition. It was learned that the membership reached an all-time high of 562 and made final plans for their annual Easter Egg Hunt which will be held in Crescent Park on Saturday afternoon, April 4th.

Legionnaire A. J. Lucia is chairman of the committee that solicits merchants for "prizes." Assisting him are: Clarence Bowers, Milton Dahler, Harry Waxman, W. C. Lundahl, Jackson and Louis Vizza. In past many merchants have complained that they were not approached with the idea that they have their names on or two eggs and donate all prizes to children who find them. Since some may be missed, Lucia said that any merchant person who wishes to have a prize egg in the Egg Hunt this year may do so by calling A. J. Lucia at 2308-J or the American Legion Home, 576.

The Easter Egg Hunt will be held at Crescent Park at 2:00 P. M. Saturday, April 4th. The hunt is for children between ages of three and ten with space nearest the Bridge reserved for younger groups and the group increasing as the hours of the hunt are reached. Children are asked to keep to their groups so older ones will not have advantage over the smaller ones.

Commander Barr urged all legionnaires who could be on hand at the site by one o'clock Saturday, with Legion cap where possible, to help control the crowd of youngsters "till the Egg Hunt is under way. All Legionnaires are urged to take this invitation heart and turn out on Saturday, April 4th.

As usual, children from the Children's Home, will be invited to participate in the Egg Hunt and social cars will be provided to bring them to the scene of activities and return them safely after the fun is over. David Deardorff and Edward Brennan are in charge of this committee.

Legionnaires under the leadership of Bob Lundberg have charge of coloring and putting prize names on the 150 dozen eggs that will be boiled and dyed at the Legion Home on Thursday, April 2nd. Chairman Lundberg stressed that this is a "big deal" and will take lots of help. Assisting him will be: Commander Barr, Robert Newman, Louis Vizza, Bill Walker, Alan Buerkle and their wives.

Any Legionnaire who is free that evening is asked to show up at the Legion Home and help with this "Operation Dye". There will be 1,800 eggs to handle that night; plus two cases of candy eggs to ready for the Egg Hunt.

Legionnaires heard of the condition of the Home Corporation at the meeting which followed the regular Legion meeting. Past Commander Lundahl told of some unusual expenses that had descended on the Home Corporation the past year. Unlooked for items of expense were repairs to boiler and heating system in December and the totally unexpected sewer trouble which occurred less than two weeks ago and resulted in the closing of the Legion Home for nearly a week. He reviewed steps that will be taken to overcome the financial handicap, under which the Home Corporation is now struggling, and said that before another heating season rolls around the plant should be in better condition.

Mr. Lundahl also proposed that Commander Barr appoint a committee of five Legion members to make a study of the over-all financial condition of the Corporation with a view to suggesting several remedies that might be tried to increase the income of the corporation and, at the same time, result in greater use of the Post Home by the membership-at-large. Several Legionnaires present made worthwhile suggestions which Commander Barr noted and will turn over to this newly appointed committee for consideration and study.

Corydon Firemen And Auxiliary Hold Monthly Meetings

Corydon—Roy Adams presided at the March meeting of the fire department, held in the IOOF hall. As further improvement to the fire hall, an attractive new entrance has been added. Attracting considerable time and attention at the meeting was the new fire truck chassis brought for display purposes.

The Fire Auxiliary, holding its monthly meeting at the same place, heard a report concerning the recent dinner, considered routine affairs, and adopted as a project the making of a quilt which will be sold later on. Featuring the social hour, refreshments were served by Mrs. Phyllis English, Mrs. Wilma Black and Mrs. Ora Carnahan.

Eight persons attended the dinner-meeting of the Foreign Missionary Society held at the home of Mrs. Frank Coy, Willow Creek. Mrs. B. M. Stoltz, president of the group, presided with Rev. Doverspike leading devotions. The society sewed for the hostess.

Wednesday afternoon Club members met with Mrs. LeRoy Bennett, with five hundred enjoyed. Mrs. O. A. Benton, a guest, was awarded first prize for high score; Mrs. Roy Adams, second and traveling tokens; Mrs. Charles Whyte, consolation. Present were Maude Adams, Ora Carnahan, Mae Kornell, Hazel Benton, Belle Whyte, Mabel Russ.

Mrs. Nora Crooks and Mrs. Helen Stoltz were recent dinner guests of Mrs. Clifford Butler, Bradford.

THE PRESIDENT AND VIRTUES

In today's atmosphere of pseudo-intellectualism, President Eisenhower's profoundest beliefs perhaps seem "corny" to many. His occasional emphasis on the "extraordinary virtues" of his parents, on the fact that they were "thrifty, economical and honest," and on the "lusty influence of the Bible in their lives," is doubtless corny, by current smart standards.

Examining this presidential "corniness," in the lead article of the April Reader's Digest, Stanley High states: "The extent to which such homely virtues are out of date is Eisenhower's proof of what is wrong with this country. What has been wrong with the American government he sees as symptomatic of things gone wrong with the American people."

The President hopes with all his heart for a renewal of religious faith that will produce a rededication to religious values and conduct.

But he is determined, Mr. High writes, "to use his influence and his office to help make this period a spiritual turning point in America, and thereby to recover the strength, the values and the conduct which a vital faith produces in a people."

Eisenhower believes that the recovery of the old-fashioned virtues requires basic changes in American thought and direction. These changes, moral and spiritual in nature rather than political and economic, will none the less produce political and economic consequences. Americans who believe as the President believes, and want for themselves and America what he wants, should insist that the man they elected must not be cut down to the size and shape of partisan politics.

TRAIN REMOVAL

St. Marys Press

The Pennsy contemplates removing two passenger trains that now serve traffic in and out of Emporium, even setting the date, April 26.

A move of similar nature was tried two years ago this time but Emporium business interests took up the challenge and succeeded in having the two trains retained, scoring a triumphant victory over the Pennsylvania Railroad, something that seldom happens.

Today the same business interests that won that initial triumph are said to be lined up for battle No. 2. It will be interesting in this neck of the woods to see how the fight comes out.

Nothing is being left undone to assure the success of the Jaycees Pedestrian Safety Campaign which will start in Warren Thursday morning. Plans will include the painting of warning signs on sidewalks in most congested parts of the town reminding pedestrians that "Jaycees Say Don't Jaywalk!"

The steady downpour during most of the night came as a welcome relief to state and federal forestry officials who were becoming alarmed over the dry condition of the woods.

Spiritual Diary for Lent

Righteousness exalteth a nation: but sin is a reproach to any people.—Proverbs 14:34.

Today's Message

There is but one remedy for the evils that threaten us today. It lies in a revival of the spiritual forces in men and women, and the application of these forces in our daily living in accordance with the teachings of Christ. Today, let us ask ourselves these questions, for, in the final analysis, we have a personal responsibility to our families, our neighbors, our nation and our world:

Am I doing the right thing, in my own heart, to make myself the kind of person Christ would have me be? Am I exerting an influence for good in my own household? Am I doing unto my neighbor as I would have him do unto me? In my town, or city, am I an aggressive power for good—in my business relations, civic and social activities in the community? Do I do my utmost to carry over my ideals of honor and integrity into local and state affairs?

If all of us could answer these questions in the affirmative, the onward march of Evil would be not only halted but destroyed. This beloved country of ours would be awakened to that spiritual faith that would make us worthy to lead the nations of the world to a glorious new day.

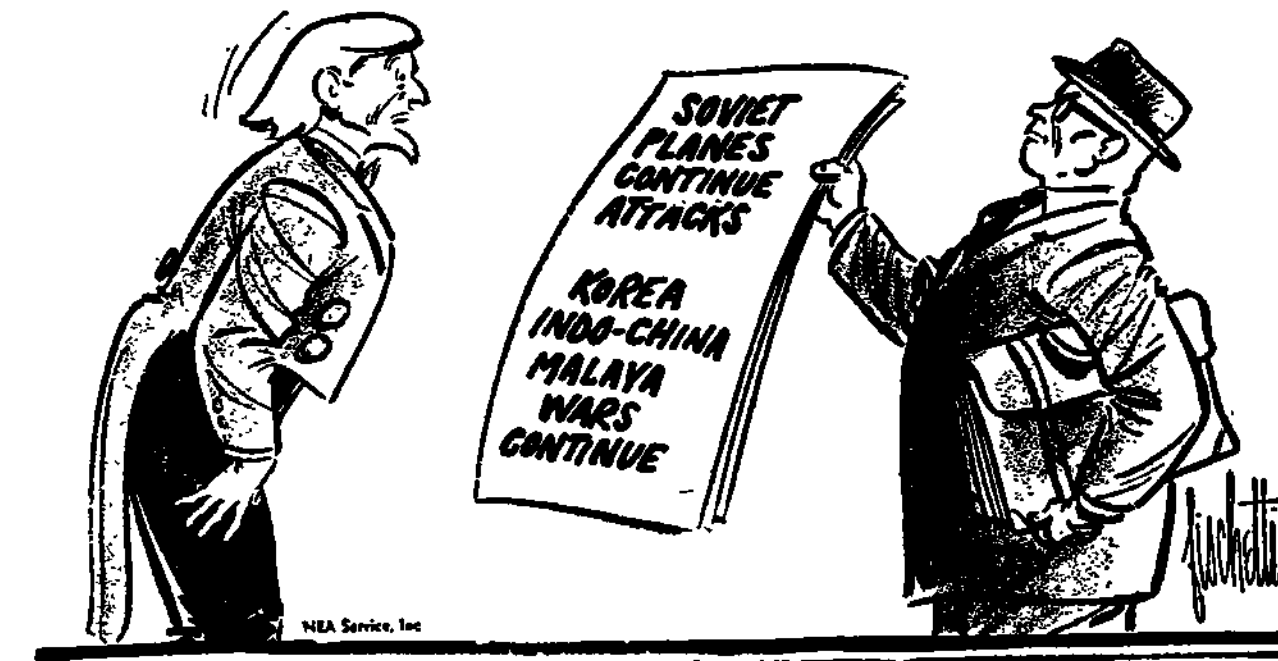

—CHARLES W. TOBEY
U. S. Senator from New Hampshire.

Today's Prayer

Eternal Father, grant that we may do our part in helping to establish Thy Kingdom on earth. Help us to pattern our daily lives after Christ's blessed example, that ours may be a nation in which "dwelleth righteousness." Amen.

Here And There

Announcement is made elsewhere in this issue of the annual Bugs Bunny Easter Coloring Contest, which will be staged under the sponsorship of the Warren Bros. Library theatre and The Warren Times-Mirror. As in the past the contest is open to all girls and boys up to twelve years of age. Since it comes in a season when the rabbit is king and the coloring of eggs is very much in the youngster's minds, it is a foregone conclusion that scores of entries will be submitted to Manager George C. Sarvis, of the Library theatre. Contest rules will be carried with each sketch. But keep in mind, the entries are to be delivered to the Library theatre this year.

Groucho Marx, master at give and take quips, has such a sharp tongue that at times it might seem he was taking undue advantage of verbal slipups by some of his contestants. Yet he gets the laughs, and continues to maintain the rating of his quiz show, "You Bet Your Life," high in both radio and TV lists. Actually Groucho works a lot longer in putting his program together than is apparent on the air. He records for an hour and a half, using as many as eight contestants. This is edited down to thirty minutes, leaving a set of three contestants answering four questions each. Both radio and TV versions come out of the same recordings. But since the requirements for radio differ from those of TV, certain parts of the two programs vary from week to week.

Terse, Tart and Timely: We have an anonymous communication from "A Taxpayer" in Youngsville which we would be glad to give consideration if the writer will either come in or send a note identifying himself. . . . Appreciate an engraved invitation from the Chicago Tribune-New York Syndicate to attend a party in honor of the syndicate's feature writers, artists and staff April 22d from five to seven p. m., in the grand ball room, The Plaza, New York City, but regret we'll be unable to attend. . . . Motorists report hearing peepers for the first time this spring in the marshes between Warren and Irvine last evening.

Officials in charge of the air raid spotter service of the Warren County Civilian Defense set-up are still desperately trying to locate a suitable location for their sky gazers, and, unfortunately, meeting with little encouragement. . . . The annual migration of calicos, or pan fish, toward the inlets has attracted a large number of fishermen at Chautauque Lake and several good catches have been reported. . . . And that reminds us, they say sucker fishing is pretty good at the mouth of the Conewango where it empties into the Allegheny.

Experts Disagree on Value Of a Full, Three-Man CEA

BY PETER EDSON
NEA Washington Correspondent

WASHINGTON—(NEA)—The question of whether President Eisenhower is to have a full Council of Economic Advisers or just one economic adviser has stirred up a junior-grade controversy among experts.

If the President obeys the Full Employment act of 1946, he will have a three-man Council of Economic Advisers with full staff for research.

The catch right now is that the Congress has cut off the money to pay for a full CEA staff. So the President has had to content himself with one economic adviser.

Republican Congressman John Taber of New York, Richard Wigglesworth of Massachusetts and John Phillips of California—a potent trio on the House Appropriations Committee—have been gunning for CEA for a long time.

Last year, in an economy drive, they succeeded in getting the CEA appropriation cut by about a fourth. Instead of restoring the cut, the Senate decided to allow the CEA to spend all its money in the first nine months of the fiscal year. The thought was that after election, it would be possible to get a deficiency appropriation to keep the outfit going.

BUT along comes a Republican administration which puts Taber and Co. in control of House appropriations. On the pretense that they can't decide whether President Eisenhower wants the council or not, they knock out the deficiency appropriation. So—CEA has to fold up and be liquidated as of April 1.

When it comes to restoring CEA to life, the question of what it did to justify its existence in the six years it has been around is naturally raised.

What policies did CEA recommend to President Truman which he adopted, which Congress carried out, and which saved the country from ruin?

Dr. Edwin G. Nourse, first chairman of the council, is of the opinion that it is not possible to take a list of the council's recommendations to the President and check them off as adopted or rejected to compile a batting average on CEA effectiveness. His reasoning is that there are too many variables, too many other outside factors influencing the economy to make any such record an honest appraisal.

DR. NOURSE resigned from the council after three years over a difference of opinion with President Truman and Leon H. Keyserling, the assistant chairman who later became head of CEA. Dr. Nourse thought the council should be a somewhat academic adviser on economic trends, leaving the shaping of policy to the President and the Congress.

Mr. Keyserling thought the council should be an active advocate of the President's complete economic policy.

Mr. Keyserling won this argument and Dr. Nourse resigned. Also, he didn't approve of some of Mr. Truman's fiscal policies.

Dr. Nourse still believes the council is useful and should be continued. Others don't think so. They say that CEA can't point to a single thing it accomplished in its six years. So kill it.

At the opposite extreme is Mr. Keyserling. He thinks the council can show a number of specific accomplishments. Some of his ideas will be presented in this space in the next issue.

This Wife Deserved and Got Recognition for Devotion

ON his 55th wedding anniversary Henry Hensel of Saddle River, N. J., telephoned the Passaic Herald-News to put this classified ad in the paper:

"To my sweetheart, Sophie Hensel: I wish to thank you publicly for your love and devotion and for 55 years of wedded happiness made possible by your unmatched qualities as a wife, mother, mother-in-law, grandmother and great-grandmother."

"We all revere you. Your husband, Henry Hensel."

Seventy-five-year-old Mr. Hensel got his "ad" in the paper, all right. It landed on page one free of charge.

No wonder the editor thought it was front-page news. We have testimonial dinners for the man who retires from public life. We have banquets to honor the man who is retiring from his job after years of faithful service.

YEARS OF QUIET SERVICE PASS UNNOTICED

BUT there is no public fuss made over a woman who has spent long years as a devoted wife and mother and, as her grandchildren and great-grandchildren come along, retires to the sidelines to let the younger women of the family take over the reins.

Perhaps, Mr. Hensel felt the injustice of that when he looked back over 55 years of married life and thought of what a wonderful job his bride of long ago had done as wife, mother, mother-in-law, grandmother and great-grandmother. It must have occurred to him that more was due such a woman than his own private words of appreciation.

And so Mr. Hensel wrote his "ad" and telephoned it in to a newspaper.

It must have made his wife of 55 years deeply happy. But that is only part of the story. It was, in a way, a tribute to all women who have devoted their lives to their husbands and families.

Because he saw that a wife and mother should have some recognition for a job well done, Mr. Hensel has made the rest of us see, too. (All rights reserved, NEA Service, Inc.)

Unusual Record In Enrolling Students Is Made by I. C. S.

Sometime in April the International Correspondence Schools will enroll its six millionth student. This is a record never achieved before by any educational institution according to L. Edward Johnson, local representative.

On May 20 the Schools will hold a "reunion" and open house in Scranton to celebrate the event. The six millionth student will be "installed". Prominent graduates are expected to attend.

In commenting on the forthcoming event, Lawrence W. Tice, I. C. S. president, said:

"For America to retain its position of world leadership our industrial might and know-how must continue to grow. The best assurance for such growth lies in the self-propelling character of people: ambition, self-help, self-improvement."

"For 62 years I. C. S. has been a symbol and a demonstration of those traits. I. C. S. has made it possible for ambitious working men and women to train and educate themselves for advancement."

"When more than five million people take advantage of such industrial and business training, the benefit to themselves and to their country is indeed great. The fact that we have 125,325 active students and are about to enroll our six-millionth student, testifies to the continued vigor of ambition and fine character in the lives of our people. Truly, ambition still burns brightly in America."

SCHOOL NEWS!

By Warren High News Writing Class

"Do the leaders of the community have close contact with the schools, what is taught, and what the problems are? was the topic discussed at the meeting of the Pennsylvania Cooperative Program in Educational Administration last week."

Assembling in the council chamber of the Municipal Building to discuss problems common to many schools, the representatives present were from Jamestown, N. Y., Bradford, Ridgway, Kane, and Warren.

Dr. O. H. Aurand, professor of education at The Pennsylvania State College, was the consultant for the evening.

During the meeting the group considered other problems, such as the value of a work-experience program, the follow-up and placement services of a school, and the adult education program. These all aim to build a good two-way relationship between schools and communities.

After the meeting adjourned, several of the members continued the discussion informally, taking up other questions included in the planned program. They talked about phases of administration that disturb parents and considered them in relation to the extent the parents understand their children's progress in school, the objectives of the testing program, terms, such as "delayed reading" and "reading readiness", the best methods of treating complaints, and the use of audio-visual aids.

Cup and Saucer Hats for Spring

By DOROTHY ROE
Associated Press Fashion Editor

A new era of "dressing up" is forecast by milliner Lilly Dache, as one of the many changes in national attitude following the new administration in Washington.

This may not be as world-shaking as other changes stemming from the White House, but it means much to the nation's vast fashion industry to know, for instance, that no style-conscious woman would think of attending a tea in Washington these days without hat and white gloves, and that the "casual" look is strictly declassé.

The vivacious Lilly says hats may be very large or very small, but no lady will look well-dressed this spring without one. She shows a series of "cups" (very small hats) and "saucers" (large-size alhouettes) as a part of her new collection, which also highlights a number of charmingly fresh starched lace hats. The latter are done in white, black and colors, in small cloche types and big picture hats, managing to achieve a wonderfully light and airy effect.

tabac-tan broderie Englaise with cushion brim. All are designed by Lilly Dache.

Cup and Saucer Hats for Spring

By DOROTHY ROE
Associated Press Fashion Editor

A new era of "dressing up" is forecast by milliner Lilly Dache, as one of the many changes in national attitude following the new administration in Washington.

This may not be as world-shaking as other changes stemming from the White House, but it means much to the nation's vast fashion industry to know, for instance, that no style-conscious woman would think of attending a tea in Washington these days without hat and white gloves, and that the "casual" look is strictly declassé.

The vivacious Lilly says hats may be very large or very small, but no lady will look well-dressed this spring without one. She shows a series of "cups" (very small hats) and "saucers" (large-size alhouettes) as a part of her new collection, which also highlights a number of charmingly fresh starched lace hats. The latter are done in white, black and colors, in small cloche types and big picture hats, managing to achieve a wonderfully light and airy effect.

tabac-tan broderie Englaise with cushion brim. All are designed by Lilly Dache.

THE VOICE OF LOVE

William Neubauer

Chapter 17

AND now she was beautiful. Now peace came to her, and her nerves untangled themselves and the look of tension left her big, glowing brown eyes. This, she decided, was it. There was no voice inside telling her so, and yet for the first time in her life she could look at a man and feel sure. She wanted to work for him. She wanted to scrub floors for him and she wanted to care for him when he was ill. She smiled, and it was the smile of love felt, known, accepted at last.

"Hello, Dan."

"You know, I'm not worthy. Ruth, I've done a lot of rotten things in my life. If you just knew the truth about me..."

"We'll do it together, Dan, won't we? Dan, it'll be a lot of fun! All my life I've wanted to do something really and truly important. All my life I've..."

"But your teaching!"

"I have the whole summer, Dan."

"But your father! He's against me. He's campaigning for a city hospital. What about him?"

That sobered her. That, she thought, would be a problem. She knew her father. Once he'd gotten an idea into his head he'd go ahead with it no matter what. And Doctor had worked on Dad for months. For that matter, so had she. He'd fight for the city hospital now, and he'd fight along with Doctor until the end.

"It's a mess," he said gently. He smiled. "By the way, don't ask him to withdraw from the fight, Ruth. That wouldn't be right."

He scratched an itch on his nose. "Do you feel strange?" he asked. "Very strange."

"You know, it couldn't be for a long time. I'll have to establish myself here, first."

"I'm in no hurry, Dan."

Chapter 18

CURIOUSLY, Ellen Carlisle and her husband were having a discussion along similar lines. And this was taking place in the large sitting-room of the hotel.

"Ultimately, Ephraim, Ruth is right."

"She's not right."

"Everyone seems to have decided that Dan is a monster. There's a great deal of talk. But, interestingly, no proof."

"Doctor's not a liar."

"How do you know?"

"I just know."

"Ephraim, Ruth thinks she loves Dan. Ruth thinks enough of him to want to help him. If you're going to make things difficult for her, and for him, you'll have to have a better reason than that."

"He's a wrong 'un," the man said stubbornly. "Call it silly, but I feel it in my bones."

"It is silly."

"And Doctor's right anyway about the hospital. What does the city do if Dan gets tired of running a small-town hospital? Suppose his uncle goes back to New York, and wants Dan to go with him? Where's the hospital then?"

"Couldn't he try to hold the city up?"

"Or couldn't another doctor take it over?"

"Where's the city's control over an institution it vitally needs? Where's the continuity of service?"

"They were good points. But it did seem to Ellen Carlisle that the cart was being placed before the horse. All these things were for the future to tell. To her life the pertinent fact was that at last her older chick was in love, and that she was so deeply in love she was willing to combat her father,

Chapter 19

THE story was duly published in the Golden City Spectator and Ephraim Carlisle was duly annoyed. He came clumping into Ruth's room the following Thursday with a copy of the newspaper in his hand. "That's the sort of fellow he is," he shouted. "He does one piece of charity, and right away takes a bow for it."

"He does no such thing. I gave that story to the paper. And don't you dare explode! You can't Doctor have spread so many rotten rumors that someone had to do something to counteract them?"

"We speak the truth!"

"You don't. You're just so intent on having your own way that you won't even listen to other ideas."

"Don't you talk that way to your father!"

"And stop shouting at me! This is my room. How dare you come into my room and shout at me?"

Ellen Carlisle came running. She took in the two flushed, half-purple faces, and erupted laughter. "What a fine sight the two of you make. Shall I fetch knives? Shall we have a blood-letting here on the spot?"

Sheepishly, father and daughter subsided.

"I have a date," Ruth announced. Incidentally, Dad, I've decided to help Dan dig up some customers. Doctor could send some to him, but he won't. So that means I'll have to use some salesmanship."

"Dan Curtis should go and beg Doctor's pardon. He should declare for a community hospital. He should prove himself willing to crawl in order to learn to walk. Then, maybe, Doctor would take him under his wing."

"He won't do that, Dad. You wouldn't, either."

He turned and went out of the cottage. The door banged loudly behind him.

"Thank you for not laughing, Ruth."

"Hello, Mom, are you still talking to me?"

Merry were the brown eyes; happy was the warm young face. Love had made the girl bloom. Now she stood there a woman, or at least a reasonable facsimile of one. She led her mother over to the made-up Hollywood bed. She waved her to a seat on the dull green monkey-cloth cover. "Dad's crazy, Mom. So's Doctor. You can't talk with them. You mention Dan and they war almost apoplectic! So on it goes. And the first thing you know, someone will have a great fall."

MRS. CARLISLE nodded her head. "I've been thinking of visiting my sister down in Los Angeles. You know how your Aunt Harriette's been wanting me to come down. Well, how'd you like to take a change of air this summer? That would leave your father free to campaign. We'd pay you well, of course. And it would be a great help to me."

"Mom!"

"And, of course, it would be a great help to Dan, wouldn't it, if you were ultimately to marry him? You could save money. But more important you'd learn to administer the affairs of a big, going business. Or are you to be one of those wives who sit at home and let their husbands do all the work?"

"You see, Mom, they're all against Dan. You should hear the people in town. Doctor's stirring them all up. He's out for Dan's throat, and he doesn't care who knows it."

"And Dan, dear, could be named the doctor for this hotel. It would bring him in a certain amount of money."

That was an idea!

Sen. Murray (D-Mont.), senior Democrat on the Senate committee, said he thought it bad practice to proceed with the testimony until the administration is ready to state what it wants.

The measure, sponsored by Sens. Robert D. Fleming (R-Allegheny) and Bernard B. McGinnis (D-Allegheny), would have given boroughs the right of eminent domain either singly or jointly to carry out sanitary land fills or build rubbish and sludge plants.

Steelworkers Will Not Bolt From the C.I.O.

Atlantic City, N. J. (P)—President David J. McDonald of the United Steelworkers today denied vigorously published reports that he might lead his million-member union in a bolt of the C.I.O.

McDonald made his pledge from the convention platform of the United Auto Workers, which with 1,350,000 members is the only union in the CIO bigger than the steelworkers.

The steelworkers president also promised to work side by side with Walter P. Reuter, president of both CIO and the Auto Workers Union, in an effort to win a guaranteed annual wage. That is the UAW's top goal for its next major negotiations in 1955.

In another development, the Senate last night passed, 38-3, legislation to establish annual sessions of the General Assembly. The lawmakers now meet every two years.

The proposed constitutional amendment went to the House. If cleared by the lower chamber, the question of annual sessions will be placed on the November ballot for voter approval.

Russell Juvenile Admits Stealing a Truck in Warren

Chief of Police Miles Evan said this morning that a 14 year old Russell RD 1 boy, who has been residing in Warren with an uncle, was apprehended Sunday evening by Patrolmen Hewitt and Moseley in custody of a Dodge truck which he had taken earlier in the evening without consent of the owner, John Rapp, 17 E. St. Clair street.

At first maintaining that the truck belonged to his uncle, under questioning at police headquarters the boy admitted that about 9:00 o'clock Sunday evening, after attending a local movie, he was walking east on Pennsylvania avenue and noticed cars and trucks in a garage at the rear of the Valentine Disposal office.

Investigating to see if boys were in any of the vehicles, he found the truck with keys in it. Starting the motor, he backed it to the street, and drove it about town, later picking up a couple of friends. The trio then went to the Russell rink for a time.

Returning to Warren, he told police that he noticed the gasoline was low and suggested stealing some from another truck parked on lower Market street. While engaged in this enterprise, the boys were surprised by police, who found them with a hose and the gas cap off the parked truck.

Taking the trio to headquarters the officers questioned them. They reported that it is possible that the two friends did not know the truck was stolen, and they were released but ordered to hold themselves ready for further possible questioning. The driver will be certified to juvenile court, Chief Evan said.

MASSA TAKES LEAGUE LEAD WITH 30 PTS.

Wills Cleaners, YMCA - City League titleholders, drew the 1952-53 campaign to a close last night by having a perfect second-half and 12-game winning streak snapped by Warren Business School, 68-60, in what looked more like an unrehearsed ballet dance than a basketball game. It was by no fault of the players, but a slippery floor that became worse as the game progressed into a farce.

The highlight of last night's contest was Bill Massa's 30 points—tallied on 15 fielders—that won the league's individual scoring title with 289 points and a game average of 4.5 over the 20-game card. Before the game Bill trailed Youngsville's Bill Pollard by 17 points.

With the second half and the championship sewed up last Thursday, the loss gave Wills a 9-1 record for this half and a final record of 17-3. The Schoolboys, who forced Wills into a playoff, played the first half championship, played a close second with an 8-2

GIANT—The New York Giants have nicknamed rookie Bill Taylor, 23, The Body, the promising shortstop standing six feet four and weighing 219 pounds with speed and power to match. (NEA)

Parents and Schoolmates Cheer As McClintock Team Wins, 39-30

Little McClintock floormen lived up to their reputation as Gra-Y League champs last night, when they defeated the league All-Stars, 39-30, in a pleasing contest played before a capacity crowd of parents and schoolmates on the YMCA court. It was the 13th consecutive victory for Coach Dave Olson's classy quintet of West Enders.

Leading 12-9 at the close of the first period, McClintock had its spread narrowed to 18-16 at the intermission and then went on to outscore the All-Stars, 21-14, in the final two chapters. The contest stayed at a five-point spread most of the last half, with a late spurt accounting for the wider margin.

Young Nicky Creola and Joey Massa provided the Olsonmen with their scoring punch, hitting for 16 and 12 points respectively. Tommy Watson hit for nine and Rosenquist had two, to account for the remainder of McClintock's points.

The All-Stars pointmaking was more rounded out, with Bill Mervine of Home Street and Mike Cashman of East, each hitting for seven. Lacy's Craig Johnson was next high with six; Home's Billy Brumagim and Bob Haslet each had three; Dick Fowler of South, tallied two; as did Phil Gahrning of East. Dick Terry and Wilson of East, and Kurtz Lester of South, completed the All-Star lineup.

One of McClintock's regulars for most of the season, Joe Castagnino, was unable to play because of a recent operation, and two All-Stars, Souths Chuck Cassell and Pete Ostergard also were absent.

Harrisburg (P) — Top candidates for Class A and B regional scholastic cage honors wondered today if the Class C results point to a trend for the rest of the week.

The West's No. 1 team in Class C—Fredonia, 1951 state champ—was upset and eliminated from the race last night by an unranked five from Centre Hall.

The Eastern final found Jenkintown, defending state champ, winning as expected, over Harter. The state final, for schools under 250 enrollment, is scheduled for Friday.

The Class B regional semi-finals are on tap tonight with the pairings listing Darby (District 1) against Ashley (Dist. 2) in the East at Allentown and Irwin (Dist. 7) against Mercer (Dist. 10) in the West at New Wilmington.

New regional A winners are chosen Wednesday when Allentown and Yeadon and Shoran and Meadville get together in the East and West respectively.

Centre Hall, the first Centre-Centennial League team of Dist. 6 ever to make the state championship playoffs, worked up a one point lead over Fredonia in three quarters and then held on for a 61-60 decision at Brookville.

Brenan Establishes New Range Record At Warren Armory

In his second year of the game, Bob Brenan demonstrated some fancy shooting in Warren Revolver League competition last night when he fired a neat 283 for a new State Armory range record. He also led his depleted Irvine team to a 673 to 618 victory over a short-handed Youngsville club.

In other team competition the Game Wardens pulled into a two-way tie for first place by clipping Sylvania, 1252 to 1169, while Cornplanter dropped a 1090 to 1006 decision to NARC. The Game Wardens and Cornplanter each have a 7-2 record.

High team men besides Brenan were D. Worley, Game Wardens, 271; J. Schuler, Cornplanter, 267; K. McIntosh, Sylvania, 251; R. Sidon, NARC, 247; and G. Schumacher, Youngsville, 246.

Worsham Wins and Eyes Oakmont Open

Jacksonville, Fla. (P) — Lew Worsham's victory in the Jacksonville Open Golf Tournament yesterday could be an omen on things to come in the National Open at Oakmont, Pa. this summer.

Worsham won the National Open in 1947 after he tied for first in the Jacksonville Open, though he lost a playoff here to Clayton Heafner.

It will be home grounds to Worsham as host professional to the National Open at Oakmont.

Roberts and Erskine Demonstrate Some Brilliant Pitching

By BEN OLAN

A Sports Writer

Robin Roberts of the Philadelphia Phillies, the major leagues' No. 1 pitcher in 1952, is giving every indication he intends to stay on top this season.

The 26-year-old right-hander, who won 28 games last year, the most National League victories since 1935, hurled seven shutout innings yesterday as the Phillies walloped the Milwaukee Braves, 11-5. His successors, Howie Fox and Bob Greenwood, gave up all of the Braves' tallies.

Roberts allowed only three scattered safeties and aided his own cause by hitting a two-run homer in the sixth inning.

Roberts' performance wasn't the only brilliant pitching effort yesterday.

Carl Erskine became the first Brooklyn Dodgers' hurler to go the route as he blanked the Philadelphia Athletics, 8-0, on two hits.

Al Sima and Sonny Dixon combined to limit the World Champion New York Yankees to six hits as the Washington Senators won an easy 9-0 victory.

At Pasadena, Calif., catcher Bill Wilson homered to outfielder Jim Rivera homered to pace a 15-hit Chicago White Sox barrage that netted a 9-4 win over the St. Louis Browns.

Larry Doby's single, Al Rosen's two-bagger and an error in the 11th inning gave the Cleveland Indians a 5-4 triumph over Hollywood of the Pacific Coast League.

The Chicago Cubs came from behind to whip Portland PCL, 9-6, on the strength of home runs by Carl Sawatski and Paul Schramka and rookie Fred Baczewski's effective relief pitching.

The New York Giants whipped the Japanese namesakes, the Tokyo Giants, 8-4, at Phoenix.

The Detroit-St. Louis Cardinals game at Lakeland was washed out with the Tigers at bat in the last of the fifth, trailing 3-1.

The major league clubs continued their playing-down process with 16 players being farmed out.

The breakdown:

Chicago White Sox—First baseman Ken Landenberger to Memphis Southern Association and shortstop Sam Esposito to Waterloo Short I League.

St. Louis Browns—Pitchers Jim Upchurch, Jack Martin and Larry Wilson and catcher Charlie White and Don Masterson to San Antonio Texas League.

Washington — Outfielder Buck Warner, pitcher Levi Flesham and catcher George Bradshaw to Chattanooga Southern Association.

Teenage Boxer Dies After Knockout in Fight at Lancaster

Lancaster, Pa. (P) — A teenage boxer, appearing in his fourth contest, died last night a few hours after being knocked out in a Golden Gloves bout at St. Joseph's Catholic Church.

The victim, 17-year-old Clifford Johnson, took a nine count in the first round of the three-round contest with Charles Cator, a Lancaster boy, and then was counted out in 1.53 of the third. He regained consciousness and walked down the steps from the ring but collapsed before reaching the dressing room.

Dr. George Gerlach, in attendance at Ringside, revived him and the young fighter was helped to the dressing room, where he again collapsed and was rushed to St. Joseph's Hospital.

Physicians said the boy failed to regain consciousness after his admission and died about three hours later.

Johnson had won his three previous fights by decisions. The 147-pound Negro from Harrisburg, Pa., was the fourth ring fatality of the year. All were amateurs. There were 17 deaths in boxing in the U. S. last year.

Larry Doby's single, Al Rosen's two-bagger and an error in the 11th inning gave the Cleveland Indians a 5-4 triumph over Hollywood of the Pacific Coast League.

The Chicago Cubs came from behind to whip Portland PCL, 9-6, on the strength of home runs by Carl Sawatski and Paul Schramka and rookie Fred Bazewski's effective relief pitching.

The New York Giants whipped their Japanese namesakes, the Tokyo Giants, 8-4, at Phoenix.

The Detroit-St. Louis Cardinals game at Lakeland was washed out with the Tigers at bat in the last of the fifth, trailing 3-1.

The major league clubs continued their parring-down process with 16 players being farmed out. The breakdown:

LIKE A MAGIC CARPET

to speed your out-of-town call

To give wings to your words on Long Distance calls, give the operator the number you want, instead of just the name and address. That way, you'll find that your call to a distant place will travel on a magic carpet with the speed of light.

Calls placed by number never have to be detoured through Information. Fast as Information is, this detour slows your call.

One of the biggest aids in placing calls by number is a Personal Telephone Directory—a handy book in which you can list out-of-town telephone numbers you may have occasion to call. To get one, without cost or obligation, simply call the Business Office. You'll find it a big help.

Television Transmission Is Explained at Rotary Meeting; Harmony Boys Provide Music

Warren Rotarians enjoyed a presentation of "American Music" by the Harmony boys as they ate luncheon at the YWCA on Monday, then heard an interesting talk by R. Graham Fithian, public relations representative of the Bell Telephone Company, who described the new "radio relay" system which passes network television programs and telephone calls from one lower to another all the way across the country. A comprehensive booklet, handed to each member, illustrated the method used by Bell and Mr. Fithian also used a chart to illustrate various points in his talk.

Rotarian Horace M. Stevenson, district manager for Bell, introduced Mr. Fithian as well as Russell Rohleder, new Bell manager here, who was a guest. Other guests included Rotarians Neil Donovan of Erie, and Ad Lyon of Bradford.

Rotarian Calvin W. Barwis, program chairman for March, announced that the club will attend presentation of "American Music" by the Harmony boys at 12:20 p. m. next Monday, returning to the YWCA for luncheon at 12:50.

Attorney Donald S. Mervine, formerly a member of the Sherfield club, was welcomed as a new Warren Rotarian at Monday's meeting.

The Harmony Boys, whose members are William Kightlinger of Tidouste, William Lehman of Bradford, and Robert Deemer of Warren, made a real hit with the Rotarians. They played a group of numbers while luncheon was served, including "Little Creek Polka," written by Deemer. This trio, which has made several local appearances of late, received great applause and the thanks of the club for good entertainment. Vocal numbers were by Bill Kightlinger.

Early settlers on Cape Cod built the barn onto the house so that they would not have to wade through snow in winter to reach it, hence "Cape Cod" house.

Glade Dept. Plans For New Building; Meets on Thursday

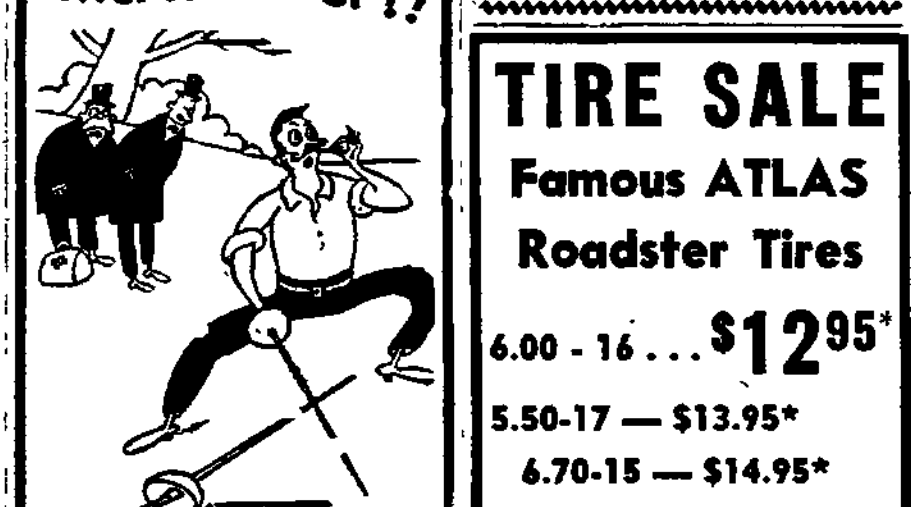

Plans for building a fire hall will be considered by members of the Glade Township Volunteer Fire Department at its regular meeting at 8 p. m. Thursday in Irvinedale school.

President Donald L. Curtis said today that a large attendance is hoped for because the building committee will present suggestions for construction of a hall which will contain two stalls for motorized equipment, a 16x16 kitchen, two rest rooms, check room and a 32x32 recreation hall. It will be built on the lot near Irvinedale school which the department purchased from the school board.

An estimate of the cost will be ready for submission at the meeting, together with an investment plan for purchase of materials, the department members to construct the building themselves.

There was a quick response by members on Sunday when the department was called to extinguish a grass fire in Willey street. Summoned by telephone, the firefighters were on hand in short order.

2-Way Hydraulic Control with the MASSEY-HARRIS 2-Plow 22 and Depth-o-matic System

Depth-o-matic 2-Way Hydraulic System gives you depth control of both mounted and pull-behind tools anywhere in your field. It's accurate, positive... completely safe. Depth-o-matic is but one of many better farming advantages you have with the 22. Others like 23.91 maximum drawbar horsepower; full-width operator platform; clear unobstructed vision; big 10-34 tires; the weight and power to handle both mounted and pull-behind tools mean the 22 does more work faster, easier, at less cost. And remember, the 22 is the lowest-priced tractor per drawbar horsepower in the 2-plow field.

Boyle Finds Plot Afoot To Keep a Fellow From Getting Pleasure Out of Being Sick

By HAL BOYLE
New York (AP)—Have you had any fun being sick lately? If so, I'd like to know how. It seems to me there is a plot afoot to keep a fellow from getting even the slightest pleasure out of his ailments anymore. And your doctor, your wife and your best friends are all in on the conspiracy.

It used to be that a man, at the onset of a sore throat, a mild fever or an upset stomach, could take to his bed with a sense of quiet satisfaction and mild self-importance. His wife would pet and pamper him, the neighbors would drop in for a consoling chat, the family doctor would come, feel his pulse, write a prescription and say, "Just stay in bed, and you'll be as good as new in a few days."

An illness then was a relaxing, satisfying restful experience. All a fellow had to do was gargle a bit, or gulp some foul-tasting medicine every few hours. The rest of the time he could just lie there and feel himself healing, or listen to the radio or catch up on his reading.

Nobody blamed him for his illness. Falling sick—and getting well again—were all part of normal living.

Not today. It is an insult to modern medicine if you get sick now. You are being ungrateful to science.

You get a sore throat, and decide you will stay home and nurse it. That's what you think. You find out that people don't stay home sick anymore.

"You're not going to stay around here, moaning and groaning and feeling sorry for yourself," says the wife. "What are we paying money into that hospital plan for?"

"But I ain't sick enough to go to a hospital."

"Oh, yes you are. You know our doctor doesn't like to make home calls anymore. He's too busy. If I phone him, he'll tell you to go to the hospital. He can treat half a dozen patients in the hospital in the time it takes him to make one home call."

Well, who wants to go to a hospital with a sore throat? Once they get you on your back they might try to sell you an ulcer. So you gargle with salt water and plod weakly to work.

At the office you feel sure of some sympathy. But what happens? When one of the other hired hands remarks you look a bit peaked, you paw tiredly at your collar and mutter:

"Ugh... throat... sore... ugh."

A look of intense science spreads over his face.

"Hm. It's probably psychosomatic."

"Probably whom?"

"Psychosomatic. Most ills now are both physical and mental in origin. Have you been feeling frustrated lately?"

"Certainly I've been feeling frustrated lately. Do you think I'm crazy? Anybody who isn't frustrated is nuts."

"Aha! That's just it. You probably said something you are sorry for. And subconsciously you are expressing your resentment at your throat. That is why it is sore. If you will just face up to your real problem like a man, the soreness will go away."

"Never mind my sore throat," you reply. "Why don't you go away?"

But you are afraid to mention your sore throat to anyone else, for fear he will diagnose it as a bottled-up urge to bite your mother-in-law.

The truth is that everybody today has the muddled idea that sickness is unhealthy. That takes away all the fun and gives you a guilt complex. When you feel bad now, all you can do is wait silently until you feel better—or die on your feet, still gamely proclaiming, "there's nothing wrong with me, mom."

TODAY is pay day for all who have classified ads.

CUT DRAFT, EXPENSES?—Defense Secretary Charles E. Wilson, above, tells his first press conference since becoming a member of President Eisenhower's cabinet that he hopes to cut draft calls for the Korean war. He also said that he has asked his joint chiefs of staff what would happen if the military budget were cut by $4,500,000,000.

OPENING BID ISN'T PROPER 'BOOK' BID

a "book" bid. South has only 21 points in high cards, and the opening bid of two no-trump usually shows 22 to 24 points. The strong five-card suit is easily worth the missing point, however, and the opening bid can therefore not be criticized.

North has an obvious raise to game. With 6 points in high cards, North expects that the combined holding is roughly 28 to 30 points, which ought to be ample for game but not nearly enough for slam.

When West opens the jack of spades, South must win the trick at once instead of holding up. South can then go right after the clubs, by laying down the ace and then continuing with a low club, without fearing the spade suit.

South reasons that if the spades are 5-2, and if East has the king of clubs, East will be able to lead only one spade through South. This will not be sufficient to let West run the suit.

There is never anything to fear, of course, if the spades are 4-3. At worst, South can lose only three spades and one club trick.

As the cards lie, South easily makes his game with four clubs, two hearts, two diamonds, and at least one spade.

There may be a different story to tell if South makes the mistake of refusing the first spade trick. West can then defeat the contract by switching to hearts.

South can win in his own hand and go after the clubs, but West will lead another heart upon taking his king of clubs. South now can run only eight tricks, and when he tries to set up his ninth trick the opponents can take two heart tricks. They will thus defeat the game with a spade, a club, two hearts, and either a second spade or a diamond.
